TENOR CARUSO ARRESTED.

WOMAN SAYS HE INSULTED HER IN CENTRAL PARK ZOO.

Policeman Grabbed Him and Led Him From the Monkey House to the Station -Hurry Call for Conried to Give Ball - VII a Mistake, Cries the Singer.

Mrs. Hannah Graham and her little son were in the monkey house in Central Park vesterday afternoon just before 5 o'clock. Mrs. Graham and the boy were leaning on the railing in front of a cage when a short stout man of very dark complexion stood close to Mrs. Graham.

A plain clothes man, James J. Kane, is attached to the Arsenal station. His special business it is to see that women in the park are not annoyed. Standing at the back of the room he noticed the woman and but boy and kept his eve also on the "foreign looking man" as Kane described him later. Kane saw that the woman appeared to be disturbed, and finally when the woman wheeled around on the man at her side with a very red face, and said, "See here, what are you doing?" Kane got busy.

He ran over to the railing and grabbed the man by the arm, saying to the woman, "Do you want to make a complaint against this

"I certainly do," said Mrs. Graham. "He has insuited me.

The stout man got excited and agitated when he felt Kane's hand gripping his arm, but in spite of his protests and his declarations that it was all a mistake Kane told him that he was under arrest.

The prisoner walked quietly enough to the Arsenal, aithough he appealed to Mrs. Graham and the plain clothes man several times to release him. Sergt. McGirr was on the desk at the Arsenal. He looked the prisoner over and asked him who he was. Enrico Caruso, the opera singer," replied the stout man. McGirr and Kane blinked in surprise. The prisoner had given no indication of his identity in the monkey house or on the way to the Arsenal. The tenor said that he was 33 years old and that Italy was his birthplace. He was half beside himself with excitement and anger and danced about in front of the railing at the sergeant's desk. nsisting to Mrs. Graham, the sergeant and Kane that a mistake, a very grave mistake, had been made. Mrs. Graham repeated her story to Sergt. McGirr and McGirr

What's the charge?" he asked shortly. "Disorderly and indecent conduct in rubbing his left hand three times against the side of the complainant in an indecent manner in the monkey house in Central Park," said Kane, and the sergeant so entered it on the blotter.

Caruso insisted again that a mistake had been made, and said to Mrs. Graham 'Madam, you must withdraw this charge. There was no offence on my part."

Caruso tried to get to Mrs. Graham to argue with her, but the sergeant ordered Kane to keep him away from the woman. Mrs. Graham said that she was 20 years old and lived at 1756 Bathgate avenue,

McGirr told Kane to take the prisoner to the East Sixty-seventh street station, there are no cells at the Arsenal. Caruso walked quietly with Kane to the station house, and Sergt. Quilty, who was on the desk there, took his pedigree again. Quilty quit scratching, looked up and said to a cop:

Caruso struggled hard, the police say, against being locked up and it took two big cops to land him in the cell. As he went he shouted that Mr. Conried, manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, be sent for. Policemen Barry and Doyle locked Caruso up and Doorman Barry took charge

In the cell Caruso scribbled a short note and addressed it to Mr. Conried at the latter's house, 65 West Seventy-first street Mr. Conried got to the station house at 6:20, arriving in a hansom cab. He was evidently worried. He walked up to Sergt. O'Connell, who had succeeded Quilty, and

"I understand that Mr. Caruso, my tenor, is in a cell here. If that is possible, what is the charge against him?"

O'Connell read the paragraph on the blotter and Herr Conried asked what bail was necessary. He was informed that security for $500 would be sufficient "I have my house at 65 West Seventy-first reet, which I value at $60,000, for security. Will that do?" asked Herr Conried. The sergeant assured him that it would and the release was made out When Doorman Barry brought the singer from the cell Mr. Caruso's face was woful. As soon as he saw Herr Conried it lighted up and he ran to the manager and threw his arms around Conried's neck

"Oh. I'm glad to see you," said the singer as he embraced Herr Conried. "I am so glad to be released from that dungeon."

Mr. Conried put Caruso into the cab and they drove to the Hotel Savoy, where Caruso has an apartment.

Signor Caruso talked to reporters in his apartment at the Savoy last night. His English was poor, but he made himself understood.

He said that he got a letter yesterday afternoon from a friend who lives in Manhattan avenue and that the letter asked um to call at his friend's house at 6 o'clock. He left the Savoy at 4 o'clock, and, realizing that it was too early to keep the appointment, he took a walk in the park.

When he went into the monkey house he noticed the woman and observed, he said, that she seemed to be interested in im. He denied touching her and said that he had his hands in his overcoat pockets

As he started to leave a man (Kane grabbed him. He didn't understand what it was all about and continued in ignorance until they tried to put him in a cell. Then he resisted and made trouble, as he ex-

He thought he might have lost it in Broadway, between the Cafe Martin, where he dined, and Thirty-eighth street, where he took a cab to the Savoy. Mr. Conried when seen at his home las night was plainly angry. He said the charge against Signor Caruso was ridicubus. Mr. Conried said he blamed the police as much as anybody else, because Caruso got greatly excited, could not explain matters and was dragged off to the station house without getting any chance whatever to set himself in the right.

"Caruso left his hotel for a stroll in the park shortly before 5 o'clock," said Mr. Conried. "He nearly always takes a stroll in the park at that hour. It is essential for him to walk in the fresh air as much as possible every day. The tenor is quite fond of visiting the monkey house and watching them. "Signor Caruso told me, when he had ewhat recovered his composure, that the place was well filled with children, who were romping and chattering in front of the cages. The tenor says he never saw the woman who makes the charge against him until the policeman told him he was under arrest. At first Caruso thought it all a joke and he laughed heartily. "When he realized that the policeman was serious Signor Caruso became greatly excited. He can speak very little English at best and when he gets excited he can speak none whatever. He became so furious that he could not even talk Italian, his native tongue Mr. Conried said he felt confident that

Mr. Caruso would be discharged when he is arraigned in the Yorkville court this morning. At 1756 Bathgate avenue it was said last night that no Mrs. Hannah Graham was Truck on West Street. Mrs. Theodore F. Clark, wife of the Rev. l'heodore F. Clark, an Episcopal minister living at Union Course, L. I., died in the Hudson street hospital at midnight as the result of an accident at West and Beach streets yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Clark was attempting to cross West street about 5 o'clock but became confused by the traffic and was struck by a horse attached to a truck owned by Charles H Tienken of 79 and 81 Leonard street. Before the driver could pull up the wheels passed over the woman's chest and abdomen. A number of people, among them Policeman Dennin of the Leonard street station house, ran to her aid and carried her to the side-

At the hospital it was found that the eighth, ninth and tenth ribs on the left side were fractured and the ends crushed down upon her lungs, causing severe lacerations. The dead woman was 52 years of age.

She regained consciousness after she had been in the hospital some time, but the shock was so severe that she could make no statement to the police or Coroner. Mr. Clark was notified and went to the hospital last night. He is at present in charge of an Episcopal church at Mount Vernon.

Policeman Dennin arrested the two men on the truck and they are locked up in the Leonard street police station charged with assault. They are Louis Tienken, 47 years old, of 460 West 151st street, and Isadore Rothburs, 18, of 52 Ludlow street. They are held without bail.

VETERAN RETURNS HIS BOUNTY He Writes That He Has Prospered in Business and Pays Back $500.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The United States Treasurer received in the mail this morning a letter postmarked Meadville, Pa., containing five $100 notes. The letter read as follows:

The United States Treasury Department: DEAR SIRS: During the rebellion I served bree years and received a bounty, and as I duty to go and as I have prospered in ness, I now wish to pay back $500. Yours truly, AN OLD SOLDIER OF 1831.

The amount was deposited to the credit of the "conscience fund," as no name was given. Had the name been furnished the matter would have been treated as a refund or repayment.

SPIRITUALIST PLOT FAILS. Kalser Resists Persuasions of Clique Who Believe in the Cult.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
Berlin, Nov. 18.—The Zukunet prints a remarkable story to the effect that a clique of statesmen, who are bound together in their political action by a common belief in spiritualism, have been making efforts for months to win over the Kaiser to their cult, submitting to him evidence in the shape of spirit messages to convince him of the wisdom of their advice. The head of the clique is Prince Philip von Eulenburg, ex-Ambassador to Vienna. Among the other members are Gen. von unnamed member of the Imperial Govern-

Ameng other things, he is said to have painted a picture glorifying the Kaiser the anointed of heaven. Prince von Eulenburg shortly afterward received the Order of the Black Eagle. It is also alleged that the Prince forced the appoint. ment of Baron von Tschirsky as Minister of Foreign Affairs, but, adds the writer, as the power of the spiritualist camarilla has now been broken, this will probably be its last success with the disillusioned

FOR A NEW CHINESE NAVY. Prince Pu Lun Sent to Other Countries to Study Naval Organizations.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—A telegram from Shanghai says that Prince Pu Lun, nephew of the Emperor, who represented China at the St. Louis fair and is one of the most progres. sive men in China, has been commissioned to make a study of the naval organizations of Great Britain, Germany, France, the United States and Jaran, with a view to the reconstruction of the Chinese navy.

CASTRO'S DEATH RUMORED AGAIN Fact to Prevent Revolution.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 17 .- The Tribune prints with reserve a telegram from Mexico stating that President Castro of Venezuela is dead. It ascribes the information to a Venezuelan refugee, who says that the Venezuelan Government is concealing the fact in the hope of preventing a revolution and retaining order.

JAP SOUADRON COMING HERE

NOT FOR WAR PURPOSES, BUT ON A FRIENDLY VISIT.

Mikado's Idea is That It Won't Hurt the Prestige of His Empire to Show Some of His Fighting Ships in Waters of the Occident-Fleet Will Visit New York.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16 .- The Japanese Consul-General at Honolulu has sent word to the Japanese Consul in San Francisco that plans are nearly completed for the visit of a Japanese squadron to the United States in the early part of next year. It is announced that the sum of 500,000 yen ($250,-000) has been appropriated by the Tokio Government to pay the expenses of the naval visit.

It has been decided by the Japanes naval authorities that the visiting squadron shall consist of a first class battleship and two armored cruisers of the first class. While it has not been yet determined which vessels shall be selected for the voyage, they will all be ships that were fought in the Russo-Japanese War and which participated in the battle of Tsu Shima Straits when Togo overwhelmed Rojestvensky.

To command the squadron the Government has selected no less a naval personage than Vice-Admiral Shichiro Kataoka. Vice-Admiral Kataoka, though still a comparatively young man, was the commander of the third squadron of Togo's fleet and took part in all the principal naval engagement of the war, including the battle of Tsu Shima Straits. His squadron was long on blockade duty off Port Arthur. His flagship was the cruiser Izuino.

Admiral Kataoka's squadron will touch at Henolulu on its way across the Pacific. A considerable stay will probably be made at San Francisco, where it is possible that the Government will make every effort to entertain the Japanese visitors properly. especially in view of the unfortunate agitation that has attended the action of the local school board in segregating the Jap-

Without doubt the visiting squadron will be received by an American squadron of equal strength in command of an officer whose rank equals that of the Japanese

But it is declared that the Japanese programme does not stop with San Francisco. On the contrary, it provides that Vice-Admiral Kataoka's squadron shall make a journey around the globe. From San Francisco it will proceed down the coast, making brief stops at Chilean and Peruvian ports, around Cape Horn and up through the South and North Atlantics to New York.

The present plan contemplates a considerable stay on the Eastern seaboard, after which the squadron will sail for England. Thence the return to Japan will be made by way of the Suez Canal. The voyage thus outlined will be by far the longest ever undertaken by a Japanese squadron. In fact, nobody hereabouts has ever seen a Japanese flag flying from a Japanese warship in these waters. The journey is doubtless undertaker from motives of national pride, it being the idea of the Mikado's Government that the sight of the Japanese colors borne by ships that helped to crush Russia will be an excellent thing for Japar in the waters of the Occident. miral Kataoka is said to speak excellent English as a result of his early residence in England, where he obtained his naval education. His arrival in this port is expected in March or April. The squadron will probably be absent from Japan about eight months. DECISION IN CRAPSEY CASE

Arrived At by the Episcopal Court of Re view and Will Be Announced Monday Bishop Scarborough of New Jersey, who is president of the Episcopal court of review which has been considering the appeal of the Rev. Dr. Algernon Crapsey of Rochester, who was suspended last May on the charge of heresy, announced last night that the court had finished its

"The decision has been reached," he said, "and will be made public on Monday after it has been delivered personally to the Bishop of Western New York, to the Moltke, Chief of the General Staff, and an president of the standing committee of that diocese and to Dr. Crapsey.

This decision was reached after two hearings, on October 19 and 20, in which the prosecution and defence were presented and after two secret court sessions, November 2 and yesterday., All the sittings of the court took place at the diocesan house John R. Moses of Garden City, the Rev. A. B. Baker of Princeton, the Rev. W. R. Huntington of New York city, Charles Andrews, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals in this State; Judge Frederic Adams of Newark, and James Parker, a lawyer from Perth Amboy

This court of review, under the Church canons, has no jurisdiction over questions of doctrine, faith and worship and can consider only the technical points of the appeal, such as the admission of certain evidence and testimony

If the decision affirms the decision of the original court there is no further appeal for Dr. Crapsey and, in the words of the former sentence, he will be "suspended from exercising the functions of a ministe of this Church until such time as he shall satisfy the ecclesiastical authority of the diocese that his belief and teaching conform to the doctrines of the Apostles' Creed and the Nicene Creed as this Church hath

If the original decision is reversed there will have to be a new trial in the diocese of Western New York. It does not seem likely that in that case the same men will act on the ecclesiastical court as on the first trial.

MRS. HERBERT PARSONS, AUTHOR | THE PRESIDENT WADES IN MUD Of a Book Containing Some Advances Ideas Concerning Marriage.

A book containing many original ideas concerning family relations was published yesterday. Its author is Mrs. Elsie Clews Parsons, daughter of Henry Clews and wife of Congressman Herbert Parsons. Mrs. Parsons is a doctor of philosophy and was lecturer at Barnard College on sociological subjects for six years. She has written many magazine articles on sociological work. Among other things Mrs. Parsons "It would therefore seem well, from this point of view, to encourage early trial marriage, the relation to be entered into with a view to permanency, but with the privilege of breaking it if proved unsuccessful, and, in the absence of offspring, without suffering any great degree of public con-

subjects, but this is her first extended

"The dogma that marriage is an unquestionable sacrament and the dictum that it s merely a survival of a past form of property holding are both dams to a proper solution of the social question.

"If individualism and altruism are to be reconciled in the view that child bearing and rearing is the most important of all social services, the desirability of a change in many social relations in and out of th family will have to be faced, and, if necessary, new adaptations must be welcomed. Mrs. Parsons's book, entitled "The Family. is intended for use as a college text book for sociological students who are especially interested in the subject of marriage, the family and parenthood.

PLATT NOT TO RESIGN. The Senator and His Friends Join in Denia of Rumors

Coincident with the publication of the latest stories concerning the separation of Senator Platt and his wife has come the usual rumor that the aged Senator was about to resign his seat in the Senate and retire altogether from public life One rumor that got into print yesterday had it that the Senator had reached this decision himself and that Gov. Higgins would have an ad interim appointment to make. Senator Platt was at his office as usua yesterday but was inaccessible to interviewers. When a story regarding his resignation was sent in to him the reply came back

"Senator Platt has no intention of resigning. He intends to fill out his full term. One of Senator Platt's closest politica friends said yesterday that the Senator had never mentioned resigning. In fact those who know Senator Platt and his traits have no idea that he will resign. "Any one who knows Senator Platt and knows how tenacious he is," said one of these friends," knows that those stories will have no effect upon him."

Although the possibility of a movement among the Republican leaders to get the Senator to resign has been mentioned, one of the leading spirits in the Republican organization said yesterday that no such movement had been started and he though t most unlikely that any would be started There has been a lot of free speculation concerning his successor should he resign, but that is all, and none of the leaders has any great expectations that he will retire. At the same time it is the belief of many that some members of the coming Legislae will offer a resolution asi tor to resign similiar to the one presented last year. It might get a few more votes, they believe, that the one last year, but that is all, and would have no effect on Senator Platt. Senator Platt, it was said yesterday, intends to go to Washington in few weeks and be present at the opening of Congress

LADBEFORE U.S. SUPREMECOURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.- The youngest lawyer that ever appeared before the Supreme Court of the United States argued to-day in favor of the constitutionality of the North Carolina statute prohibiting the running of "bucket shops" in that State He is Walter Clark, Jr., son of Chief Justice Clark of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and he has just passed his twentyfirst birthday. The rules of the Supreme Court require that an applicant shall have had three years practice before the highest court of his State before being eligible to admission, and as young Clark necessarily could not have had this experience, a special motion was necessary to enable him to appear for this occasion only. Young Clark, beardless and in appearance only a youth, seemed not the least embarrassed by his maiden appearance before the highest tribunal in the land, and in the opinion of the lawyers who heard his argument made a fine presentation of his case. The cause was that of Ernest Gatewood. who was the proprietor of a so-called bucket shop in North Carolina when the law prohibiting the operation of those concerns went into effect. He was arrested and convicted of violating the law, and when its validity was affirmed by the Supreme Court of North Carolina Gatewood brought an appeal to the Supreme Cour. of the United States, claiming that the law was unconstitutional because it excepted farmers and was, therefore, class legislation, and that, therefore, it worked a taking of property without due process of law. The court took the case under advise-

SATVILLE, L. I., Nov. 16 .- Two boys by a little deduction came very near getting a large buck deer which they shot here to-day in front of Idle Hour, the country home of W. K. Vanderbilt. The boys had heard hounds running in the woods opposite the Vanderbilt place and they knew that when he was hard pressed the deer would make for the Vanderbilt place, where he knew he would be protected. In this reasoning they were correct, as the deer broke cover within a "ew minutes and made for the main gate. Both boys fired at once and the deer came to earth, but with his dying struggles he regained his feet and ran a short distance into the grounds followed by the boys. He fell dead a short distance inside the grounds.

The assistant superintendent had heard the boys' guns and he was soon on the spot and prevented the boys from taking the deer from the grounds. When he examined the dead deer he saw that it was a pet buck which had been allowed to come and go from the grounds at will.

DONS OVERALLS TO INSPECT

Pleased With Work Reing Done-Keeps Husy Outdoors in Spite of Rain-Makes Speech to Canal Employees at Culebra and Tells Them He Is Proud of Them.

Special Cuble Despatch to THE SUN.

PANAMA, Nov. 16.—President Roosevell left the Tivoli Hotel on a special train shortly after 7 o'clock this morning to make an inspection of the canal work. The train proceeded slowly to permit him to see everything that was being done. There was a steady rain, and this interfered somewhat with the inspection. Mr. Roosevelt displayed great interest in the work. He lunched at the residence of the chief engineer at Culebra. Wearing white overalls, he waded through the rain and mud to look at the work in the cut. He also inspected the Culebra Hotel, the penitentiary, commissary, &c. He talked with the employees and commented upon the conditions prevailing in the Canal Zone. At 1 o'clock he visited the office of the assistant chief engineer for the purpose of meeting employees. He made a speech here, saving that all he would have to say was that he heartily appreciated, on behalf of the United States, the work that was being done. He added: "Yesterday and to-day, while going along the canal and seeing your work, I felt more and more that you were earning the right to the gratitude of your country. I feel that I have been meeting men who have done a big work that is necessary to the bonor and interest of their country. The thing that is best worth doing is something that counts for your country. That is the kind of work you are doing

"I hope that this spirit will grow greater among you so that each man can identify himself with the work and do it in such shape that in the future it will only be neces sary for him to say that he was connected with the canal to have a patent of nobility conferred on him. Good-by and good luck. You seem to be a straightout set of Ameri cans. I am mighty proud of you.

The special train left at 2:30 o'clock and proceeded toward Colon, and later returned to Panama. President Roosevelt had a reception at the

Tivoli Hotel this evening. It was given by the Justices of the Supreme Court of the Canal Zone. SHIFT OF WIND SAVED HER Schooner Which the Life Savers Could Not

MAN ON TRIAL DISAPPEARS. Rosenberg, It Is Said, Had a Tip That Some One Had Turned State's Evidence.

Joseph Rosenberg, who has been on trial before Judge Cowing in General Sessions for stealing $3,000 from Louis Pearlman of 1468 First avenue failed to appear yesterday morning when his case was called. It is customary in the case of a prisoner on trial to lock him up in the Tombs, discontinuing his bail. But when Rosenberg's trial was adjourned on Thursday night he was allowed to go home on $500 bail, his counsel, Moses A. Sachs, promising to have him in court yesterday morning. It seems that when Rosenberg walked out of court on Thursday night some one whispered to him that Samuel Diamond, who was indicted with him, had turned State's evidence and would be a witness against him. That was warning enough to Rosenberg to skip. Recorder Goff suspended sentence on Diamond yesterday. Judge Cowing issued bench warrant for Rosenberg who has been in trouble before.

A VOTE SAVED TO HIGHES. Mr. Braun Convinced an Aged Hebrew That

Hughes's Whiskers Were Not False.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.- This is the story of how Charles E. Hughes came near losing a vote on the East Side in New York because a venerable Hebrew residing there had got the idea in his mind that the Republican candidate wore false whiskers. It was told to-day by Marcus Braun, the well known Hungarian. He said that a few days before election he met an old man with a long flowing beard who informed him that he intended to vote for Hearst. When asked his reasons the old waxed indignant and swore by the Prophet that he would not vote for one who prac-ti-ed deceit. Pressed for explanation, he said that he was certain that Mr. Hughes's said that he was certain that Mr. Hughes's whiskers were not real, that they were worn on the East Side to capture votes and that they were removed as soon as Mr. Hughes went away to speak in other parts of the city or up the State. Mr. Braun said he saved the vote to the Republicans by convincing the old man that Mr. Hughes's vincing the old man that Mr. Hughes's hirsute adornment was the real thing.

LOWTHER TO SUCCEED DURAND? Likely to Be Appointed British Ambassader at Washington.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

JOB AT CULEBRA CUT.

LONDON, Nov. 18 .- According to the Manchester Guardian Gerard Lowther, formerly Secretary of the British Embassy at Washington, and now Minister at Tangier, is regarded as the likeliest successor to Sir Mortimer Durand, British Ambassador to the United States. The chief objection to him is that he is married to an American woman, formerly Alice Blight of Philadelphia. One of the rules of the Foreign Office is not to appoint an Ambassador to the country of which his wife is a native. This rule was applied in a case not long ago. At the same time, says the Guardian, there is less necessity to apply it in the case of Washington than in the case, say, of St.

From Two Districts Protested. ELMIRA, Nov. 16.-John Doneen, candidate of the Democrats and Independents for member of Assembly against Sherman Moreland, leader of the Republicans in the last Assembly, and John S. Deister, Demoeratic candidate for County Treasurer filed protests with the board of canvassers to-day against the inclusion in the official returns of the First districts of the First and Fifth wards of this city, where it has been alleged the voting machines either went wrong or were tampered with. The protests were disregarded, but the matter will be carried into the courts. If the vote in these districts is allowed by the court Moreland will have 40 majority, otherwise he will be beaten. Deister is defeated by 2 votes only.

NEGROES DENOUNCE PRESIDENT Boston Mass Meeting Calls Soldiers' Discharge Wanton Abuse of Power. BOSTON, Nov. 16 .- At a mass meeting of egro citizens in Faneuil Hall to-night resolutions were adopted disapproving of the action of President Roosevelt in dishonorably discharging three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry. The resolutions assert that the discharge becomes an act of unmerited severity, unprecedented injustice, and is a wanton abuse of executive power, and as such we now and here brand and denounce it before the country and the civilized world. James H. Wolf, department vice-commander of Massachusetts, G. A. R., presided at the meeting.

GREEN CLEARED OF ALL CHARGES District Attorney Baker Nolle Prossed the

Remaining Bribery Indictment. WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 .- District Attorney Baker to-day announced that former State Senator George E. Green of Binghamton, N. Y., will not be brought to trial on the re-maining indictment charging him with bribery in paying to George W. Beavers. former chief of the division of salaries and allowances of the Post Office Department, who is now in Moundsville Penitentiary, certain sums of money, which were alleged by the Government to be commissions on the sale of time recording devices purchased by the Post Office Department The indictment grew out of the postal scandals several years ago and Beavers, who was indicted jointly with Green, obtained a severance and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced on this indictment to two years in the Moundsville Penitentiary. Green has been acquitted twice and the District Attorney realized the hopelessness of obtaining a verdict of guilty and accordingly nolle prossed the case. This action on the part of the District Attorney entirely clears Mr. Green of all charges of bribery and conspiracy resulting from the postal scandals. RARE MANUSCRIPT FOR SALE. Poverty Stricken Samaritans Would Sell

NEW WAR ON GAMBLING BEGINS

JEROME TO WORK FOR REPEAL OF PERCY-GRAY LAW.

Meanwhile, With Judge Rosalsky's Help. He Is Getting Lists of Poolrooms and Gambling Houses-Hopes for Ald From Hughes-Bingham Is With Him.

A determined fight is to be waged from now on against gamblers and poolroom keepers by District Attorney Jerome, who will have the cooperation of Pelice Commissioner Bingham and Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of General Sessions. In addition Mr. Jerome will make an effort, and in this he will also have the assistance of Judge Rosalsky, to have the Percy-Gray racing law repealed. Should be accomplish this it would mean, in the opinion of many persons, the killing of racing in this State.

It is said, not on the authority of Mr. Jerome, that Governor-elect Hughes is in sympathy with the movement to have the Percy-Gray law repealed, and that, even if he isn't, so keen a lawyer as Mr. Hughes will recognize the arguments that will be advanced to him by Mr. Jerome and the supporters of the movement.

At any rate, Mr. Jerome will draw up a bill to repeal the Percy-Gray law. This bill will reach Mr. Hughes in such time that should be care to call attention to it in his first message as Governor he will have plenty of opportunity to do so. "I will break the neck of gambling in this city or it will break my neck," said Mr. Jerome yesterday. He announced that he was sure of the aid of Gen. Bingham and his assistants, but that he was fearful that he would not get so much assistance from the insrectors and captains. In the fight he will bring into play his most powerful weapon, the Dowling law, which compels a witness to testify but gives him immunity. The employees of gambling houses will be dragged before the Grand Jury and made to testify against their employers. The boss gamblers will get a dose of the same medicine. The poolrooms were tackled yesterday in the preliminary skirmish and next will come the gambling house keepers.

PRISON FOR SECOND OFFENCE. Mr. Jerome relies in no small measure on the support of Judge Rosalsky. In the past it has been an unwritten rule among the Judges of the Court of General Sessions to fine gamblers and never impose a prison penalty. In some instances Judges ha . said they would send second offenders to prison, but when they got the chance they balked. Judge Rosalsky announced yesterday that in the future he would fine a gambler only once and that those who came before him a second time might expect a much heavier penalty. This could only mean a prison sentence. About 180 poolroom men-cashiers, lookouts and men who hang up the racing cards with the entries-had been summoned to General Sessions yesterday to answer indictments against them for gambling. They thought it was the usual field day, that they would be lined up before a Judge; fined $25 and walk out. The crowd, so far as the records showed, was composed of Jim Joneses, John Smiths and Harry court room were several well known poolroom keepers ready with bank rolls JEROME DENOUNCES THE LAW Right at the start of the proceedings Mr. Jerome opened fire. In an address to the Court he called attention to the new Constitution of 1894, in which there was provision prohibiting gambling and directing the Legislature to enact appropriate laws to prevent it. The Legislature did enact the laws, except in one instance, Mr. Jerome said. "It wilfully and deliberately enacted a law known as the Percy-Gray law," contimed the District Attorney. "Surrounding its enactment there was the gravest scandals, and the law was so framed that while nominally it imposed a penalty and was enacted in obedience to the new Constitution it was craftily and designedly framed so as to permit gambling on racetracks in this State. The result of it has been that on one side of a barbed wire fence a man commits a felony if he does certain acts, while on the other side of the same fence the same acts are perfectly innocent and legal. "The purpose and design of it are so perfectly plain that it was and is and continues to be and will apparently continue to be a gross -candal to the jurisprudence of this State. The law has created a senti-ment in the community that these offences are comparatively of no importance. There has grown up in this community a large class practically of men whose business it is to commit felonies as a living in violation of this statute without any adequate check from the courts, the police or the District Attorney.

Mr. Jerome added that it was not neces sary to try to apportion the responsibility for the blame in the judicial and legal machinery, but he felt sure that if the courts, the police and the District Attorney cooperated for a short time gambling could be suppressed. From his observa tion he was sure that 60 per cent. of tha employees of the poolrooms, gambling nouses and racetracks were there at the behest of politicians, mostly district leaders. All they did was to draw $5 or $10 a day and be useful in politics

"I am positive," said Mr. Jerome, "that Police Commissioner Bingham is in sympathy with me, but I can't say the same for all the inspectors and captains, and I believe that it is a fruitful source of black-

Mr. Jerome said this with great positiveness. On Thursday he had a long talk with Gen. Bingham at Police Headquarters, but he wouldn't say what it was about. Gen. Bingham admitted yesterday that he had talked in a general way about the gambling situation, adding that Mr. Jerome would get every possible help from him.

WILL URGE PERCY-GRAY LAW REPEAL. "I will frame a law and submit it to you Honor and later will have it introduced in the Legislature looking to the repealing of this Percy-Gray law," concluded Mr. Jerome. "I know your Honor knows of this evil, and I expect your cooperation. I think Dr. Thomas R. Slicer, all slone; by his persistent patience, has done more to abate this nuisance than the four District Attorneys in the counties included in this greater city and all the criminal courts
